

第1問

問1 Because both the pairs involve uses of language by which one mind reaches out to another.

問2 It means that they last only a short time and are changing constantly like performing arts, unlike writing and reading.

問3 Painting Sculpture

問4 It means when the performance ends.

問5 The former are different from the latter in that the former are transient and you cannot improve them in the process of doing them, while in doing the latter you can always revise and improve what you have done.

第2問

問1 (1) newspapers

(2) go viral and reach millions of people compared with newspapers

(3) all of the perspectives involved to get the whole picture

問2 I think that she will work as a journalist online.

第3問

Probably the Japanese supporters voluntarily picked up trash for the following two reasons. First, they simply followed their custom. In Japan it is those who litter that pick up the litter. Second, like in sumo bouts, which were originally dedicated to gods, there is something sacred with sports. So each game involves a series of rituals, and their behavior was a kind of purification. The Japanese custom and sensibility were, however, quite foreign to people from other countries, a source of surprise mixed with admiration. (84 words)

高松高等予備校